

The Quality Assurance Bureau (QAB) assists in the mission of the Office of the Comptroller by allowing the Comptroller to delegate to departments the approval of low risk transactions. As a result of this delegation, departments are responsible for adherence to regulations, policies and procedures for all of their fiscal business. The QAB's three areas of responsibility are: Quality Assurance Reviews, Internal Controls, and Single Audit.

Quality Assurance Bureau
Julia Burns, Director